

Isabella Lundgren & Carl Bagge Trio
representing Sweden at Athens Jazz Festival & Preveza Jazz Festival

The Swedish Institute at Athens has invited Isabella Lundgren & Carl Bagge Trio to perform at the:

- 18th Athens Technopolis Jazz Festival on Sunday June 10, at 22.00
- 16th Preveza Jazz Festival on Friday, June 8, at 22.00

The band consists of Isabella Lundgren (vocals), Carl Bagge (piano), Niklas Fernkvist (bass) and Daniel Fredriksson (drums).

Isabella Lundgren is one of the foremost jazz singers of Sweden. The quality of her voice and the way she performs has led many people to compare her to Monica Zetterlund. Isabella Lundgren, in her four albums (It Had to Be You, Somehow Life Got in the Way, Isabella Sings the Treasures of Harold Arlen, Songs to Watch the Moon) focuses on classic American jazz standards and blues, following in the steps of acclaimed singers such as Billie Holiday and Anita O' Day. Isabella studied the big jazz tradition in New York before returning to Sweden to follow her own artistic path, and has been highly successful.
